MEXICAN WOMAN STRANGELY HURT

Bottle Thrown in the Darkness Strikes Josefa Marquez in the Stomach, and Knocks Her Completely Out—Her Groans Attract Attention.

Josefa Marquez, a Mexican woman, was the victim of a strange and painful accident Monday evening in the Bakerville Mexican settlement, when she was struck in the stomach by a flying bottle and for a time suffered so much that it was feared her injuries might be serious, says the Tucson Star.

As in all Mexican settlements there was a celebration in nearly every tent or shack. As the woman was passing through the settlement some party of celebrators commenced skylarking and throwing missiles. Among the objects thrown was the bottle which missed its object and came sailing through the darkness taking her by surprise and knocking her out completely. Her groans soon attracted friends to her who had to work over her for several hours before she was quite herself again. It was purely an accident, as she was passing along unseen and unnoticed when the bottle was thrown.

The most satisfaction of having a home of your own is when you don't have to live in it.
